Captain Robert McMurde was summoned at the instance of Inspector Livingston (of Nuisances) for permitting a certain drain to be out of order, and be a nuisance to the inhabitants. Inspector Livingston said Capt. McMurdo was owner of some houses in West Terrace. Some two months ago a complaint was made to the Captain that a certain down spout had become choked, and was out of repair. In consequence of this notice the drain was nut in rechoked. The pipe ran down the side of the house, and when it became choked the filth burst through the wall, and became offensive. Capt.
